LOOPS AND OTHER GROUPS: A KINESTHETIC WRITING SYSTEM

Help your 2nd grade through high school students with learning disabilities and perceptual delays learn cursive writing along with their non-disabled peers in a typical mainstreamed classroom. Letters are taught in groups that share common movement patterns. For example, a, d, g, q, and c can be visualized on a clock face, and are called "Clock Climbers." Easy to remember motor and memory cues help students visualize and verbalize while experiencing the "feel" of the letter.

MAKING IT LEGIBLE: JOIN WILLY THE WORM IN A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO MAKING HANDWRITING LEGIBLE

★ A THERAPRO EXCLUSIVE! ★

Even if letters are properly formed, written material cannot be deciphered if it is poorly organized on the page. This kit is a great way to teach writing organization and legibility. The author has broken down the skills needed to achieve legibility into 9 components: letter formation, correct use of capital, placement on the lines, punctuation, use of margins, paragraph indentation, word spacing, all-over legibility and adequate speed. Each component is described in the book and depicted on 9 separate laminated pages for the student to put a smile or frown on Willy the Worm.

HATS OFF AND ON TO SCISSORS SKILLS

25 theme-related hat designs are repeated 4 times, each for a different level of cutting skill. First, color your hat, add glitter to the design, and print your name on the hat band. Now cut out your hat, join the two ends, and put on your hat. The first hat in each series of four meets the needs of random snip and/or straight line cutting. The second design is geared for curved line cutting, the third for simple shape cutting, and the fourth for complex shape cutting. Includes great information on the development of scissors skills and how to teach the correct way to hold and use scissors.
