• Good Advice!

Many years ago, near the end of the year, I announced to a group of friends that Karen and I were getting married in January. It was halftime at a Boston Celtics basketball game at the old Boston Garden. Among those present was my accountant and when the congratulations were finished she walked over to me and quietly said "get married in December. You will save on your taxes."

Once again we are nearing the year-end and it is a good time to think about saving on your taxes. Teachers and other classroom workers can claim up to $250 of classroom expenses for supplies, materials, books, software and so forth. If you and your spouse are both educators, you can both claim up to $250 of expenses for $500 total on a

Featured Products

Let's Do It Write

A great variety of prewriting activities and exercises focusing on development of eye-hand coordination and motor, sensory, and cognitive skills. Written by an occupational therapist who is also a special educator.

Design & Drill Activity Center

Great for eye hand coordination and visual perception! Children love using this to create their own designs, or follow the activity cards to make pictures and patterns. Two children can play at once!

Get a Grip Pegboard

A versatile learning aid that is designed to develop and strengthen visual perception skills, visual motor coordination and fine motor skills, including the "pincer" grasp so crucial to fine motor development and control.

joint return. Any classroom expenses in excess of these limits can be deducted as an employee business expense, which is a miscellaneous itemized deduction subject to a threshold of 2% of adjusted gross income. To learn if you qualify and what limitations apply, you can Google "tax deductions for teachers" or ask your accountant. If you qualify, remember Therapro in your purchasing decisions. Unless Congress re-authorizes it, this benefit is scheduled to expire at the end of 2013.

By the way, we were married on the 20th of December and benefited from our accountant's good advice!
