● Occupational Therapy in the Classroom

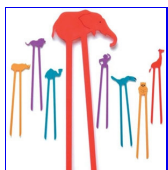

Linda Marshall, after a two year hiatus, returned to present Therapro's Saturday Seminar on January 25th. More than 70 therapists, parents, and teachers joined Linda as she shared her experiences as a COTA working in public school classrooms in Salem, MA.

According to Linda, vestibular and proprioceptive stimulation are the occupational therapist's best friends. She always begins her sessions with movement activities, usually with music and singing, before the activities that require attention and focus. A few of her favorite activities include movement songs by Dr. Jean, Yogarilla Cards and Yoga for Small Spaces.

Then we are ready for pre-writing and fine motor activities: Cutting Fruit and Giant Nuts and Bolts for bilateral coordination, Get a Grip Pegboard for pincer grasp, and Stretch and Match Geoboard for both bilateral coordination and pincer grasp, Crayon Rocks, Zoo Sticks and Flip Crayons for enforcing the ergonomic tripod grasp.

Everybody loves Linda! Whether in the class or at a Therapro seminar, she makes it fun! I am planning on inviting her back again!
