• Summer Fun: Games for Maintaining Skills

One of the great pleasures of being a pediatric occupational therapist is to see children having fun while they work. Whether the goals are developmental, functional or pre-academic, children do better when they enjoy what they are doing. Summertime should be a time of fun but we do not want to give up the gains that were made during the school year.

Here's a list of some of our favorite games along with the skills they encourage:

NOVENOPS - A very funny card game of sentences that teaches basic grammar and sentence structure.

Froggy Feeding Fun - The ultimate fine motor game that reinforces color identification, numbers, counting and sorting too!

Letter Treasure Hunt - Practice your handwriting skills by writing letters and word treasures in your Captain's log.

Keeping on Track - The Alert Program's Companion Board Game. Helps kids tune their engines so they run "just right."

Trunks: The Game of Motor-Memory - A game where players move their bodies, make sounds and perform actions from memory!

A Fist Full of Coins - Addresses working memory, sequencing, directionality, and expressive language skills all in one. For all ages and all abilities.

Know the Code: Social Skill Games - The name says it all! 50 problem solving scenarios for social situations at school.

Little Planner - Using wood geometric shapes in 5 dazzling colors, children create pictures that are increasingly challenging on a series of puzzle
