● Not a Seat in the House!

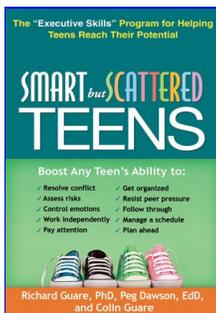

Well, we managed to do it! We fit 125 attendees into our showroom space for last Saturday Morning's Therapro Seminar.

The subject was "Fostering Executive Function Skills" and the presenter was Sarah Ward, M.S., CCC-SLP of Cognitive Connections Therapy.

The seminar was outstanding, providing insight and clarity to a very complex topic and practical classroom and at-home strategies for therapists and parents.

Executive functions are the cognitive skills that help us manage our lives.

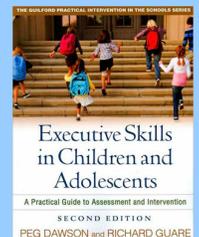

Late, Lost and Unprepared

Children with weak executive skills often do their homework but forget to turn it in, wait until the last minute to start a project, lose things, or have a room that looks like a dump! The good news is that parents can do a lot to support and train their children to manage these frustrating and stressful weaknesses.

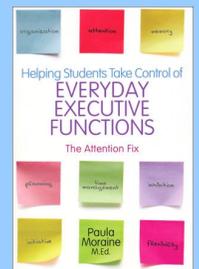

Executive Skills in Children & Adolescents

Concise and practitioner friendly, this bestselling guide has helped put executive skills on the map for school-based clinicians and educators.

Helping Students Take Control of Everyday Executive Functions

This book presents an innovative model for strengthening and developing executive function in any student, including those with attention, memory, organization, planning, inhibition, initiative, and flexibility difficulties.

Way back in 2011 we offered 3 newsletters with gift ideas for your special child (and other family members). Looking back, we thought they were worth repeating. Some of the items highlighted are no longer available but we can offer "just right" substitutions:
