● In Memoriam: Paul Weihrauch

Paul digging for gold with our new game Letter Treasure Hunt, at the 2015 American Occupational Therapy Association Conference.

Paul and I married in 1985. He was raising two wonderful teenage children, Doug and Tammy, and working as a Materials Engineer (he had received his BS, MS and PhD in Metallurgy from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology). He told me he had a dream to start and own a business. At the same time, I was working as an occupational therapist in the public schools. I often complained to him about my frustration at the lack of therapeutic/educational supplies and equipment that I needed as a therapist. He saw this as a strong business idea, and together we started Therapro, Inc. in 1986. We threw ourselves into it, weathered the ups-and-downs, and came through the other side with a business that has provided innumerable people with the resources and knowledge to make a real difference in confronting their own challenges. And along with raising his children, this was the greatest accomplishment of his life. He was equally proud of both achievements.

NOVENOPs!

A NOVENOP is an acronym created from the words NOun, VERb, NOUn, and PHrase and is a board game for children of ages 6 and up. Not only is NOVENOPs! a great learning experience - it's a hilarious game!

We both loved to go to work at Therapro (in fact, he had put in a full day the evening he passed away), and I loved working alongside him. There was never a dull moment - always new ideas, new products, new people to meet or old colleagues to visit. It's a cliché to say it's not work if you love what you do, but there's no better way to phrase it.

Paul's intelligence, down-to-earth manner, sense of humor, and his love of "schmoozing" made him a very engaging person. He especially cherished attending the annual conferences of the American Occupational Therapy Association, American Speech and Hearing Association, and Council for Exceptional Children (among others) to meet therapists, vendors, students and other professionals. When travelling to these conferences and expos, we took every opportunity to join friends and colleagues at unique restaurants for food and drink. Lately, we made a point of achieving another passion of his - to attend the baseball ballparks in the cities we visited. The last game we saw was in San Diego with the Padres playing the San Francisco Giants. The last time he saw the Giants was in 1951 when they were the New York Giants!

We often spoke of the future of Therapro, Inc. and how to carry out our vision of providing products to persons of all abilities. I plan to carry on with that vision. Business will continue as usual - in fact, we are working on a new website and our new catalog is due out in August, just in time for the new school year. Orders are being processed and our great customer service department is ready for calls and questions. We hope to hear from you soon!

Paul, you will be truly missed by many friends and family.

Love,
Karen Conrad Weihrauch, PhD, OTR/L
