● Using the Internet as a Therapeutic Tool

Digital apps have become an essential tool for OTs who work in schools, as discussed by Margaret \(Peggy\) Morris, OTD, OTR/L, BCP, at her Therapro seminar on October 24 entitled: Apps for School-Based OTs. In two hours, Peggy provided a concise history of iPad use, guidelines on how to navigate the iPad effectively, tips on accessing relevant apps, and recommendations for apps in OTs' realm of practice. A room full of therapists and OT students gained confidence in their skills using the iPad and acquired a sensational array of apps to use immediately. For a closer look at the content of Peggy's talk and specific apps she recommended, refer to Filomena's blog about the seminar. We have tried out many of them and two of our favorites are: the Dexterity apps series \(Binary Labs\) for students and TxTools \(PediaStaff\) for therapists!

During her presentation, Peggy used our adjustable Study Pal and loved it as it was just the right angle for her presentation! She thought everyone who uses an iPad should have one. (We agree!) We were happy to provide one to Peggy as a gift from Therapro.

For those needing a smaller desktop footprint, we offer the iPad Table Top Suction Mount.

Be sure to check out Karen Moore's new informative Newsletter The Sensory Connection - Therapy for Psychosocial Self Care. Karen, as you may know, is the author of The Sensory Connection Program books published by Therapro. Her newsletter highlights her new collaboration with Regions Hospital in St. Paul, MN after presenting her training workshop entitled Sensory Modulation Approaches to Psychiatric Treatment. She reports that Regions Hospital is doing some "groundbreaking work in the use of sensory approaches in psychiatric care." She predicts that this facility and its innovative staff will lead the way for what could be a model of integrated sensory-based treatment in mental health.

We look forward to Karen's Saturday Seminar Series presentation at Therapro on April 23, 2016!
